IN THE KITCHEN

Oyster Pie.

Butter a deep pie plate and line it with puff paste. Roll out more paste for the top or cover. Fold a clean towel and place in the pie dish to support the cover and add the batter. Bake well, take off the cover and remove the towel. The top crust may be baked on another pie plate if preferred. Have prepared sufficient oysters, taking care that there are no bits of shells among them. Drain off the liquor; put it in an ordinary pan and the oysters in a saucepan with just enough of the liquor to keep them from burning; also salt, pepper and butter. Put in a little sweet cream or milk and simmer—not boil—to keep them plump. Fill the pie dish with the fritassee, put on cover and serve hot.

Cranberry Dumplings.

One cup cranberries, 1/2 cup sugar, 1/2 cup water. Cook quickly and mash until berries are all broken. Prepare biscuit dough of 2 cups flour, 1 spoonful butter, 1 teaspoonful baking powder, rubbed together. Moisten with sweet cream or milk and simmer—not boil—to keep them plump. Fill the pie dish with the fritassee, put on cover and serve hot.

One cup sugar, 1 tablespoonful butter, creamed together, 1 egg yolk added. After thoroughly mixed add 1 cup hot milk and pinch of mace, white of egg, well beaten, stirred in last.

Raisin Cake.

One and one-third cups bread flour, 2 teaspoonfuls baking powder, 1/5 cup butter, 2 eggs, sprinkle salt, 1/2 cup milk, 1/2 cup raisins, 1 cup sugar. Mix and sift salt, flour and baking powder. Cream the butter and add sugar gradually. Beat eggs and add to butter and cream. Chop raisins fine and add to the mixture. Then add 1/3 of the dry ingredients, 1/2 of the milk, stir and beat hard for 5 minutes. Pour into pan and bake in a moderate oven about 30 minutes.

Escalloped Potatoes.

Put small pieces of butter in your dish, cover with slices of raw potato, then put small pieces of butter on that, also little pieces of onion. Add salt and pepper. Then another layer of potato, and so on until dish is as full as desired. Pour in milk until you can see it at the top. Cover and bake a good two hours. Longer won't do any harm. This is very nice with cold corned beef.

German Toast.

Take a loaf of bread and cut into slices of half an inch in thickness.

Then take one quart of milk, three eggs and little salt; beat the eggs and mix them with the milk and flavor as for custard, not cooking it, however. Dip the slices of bread into the mixture and fry the pieces upon a buttered griddle. Serve for dinner with sugar syrup flavored with lemon.

Delicious Dark Cake.

One cup sugar, 1/2 cup butter, beaten to a cream, 1 egg, 1 teaspoon soda, dissolved in 1 cup sour milk, 1 cup raisins stoned and chopped, 1 cup molasses, 2 3/4 cups flour, 1/2 teaspoon nutmeg, clove and cinnamon. One cup each of citron and currants may be added, but it is excellent without. This makes one large sheet or two small loaves.

Oatmeal Cookies.

Cream together 1/2 cup butter, 1/2 cup lard. Beat in gradually 1 cup sugar, add 2 cups flour, mixed and sifted with 3/4 teaspoon soda and 1/2 teaspoon salt, 2 cups rolled oats, 2 teaspoons cinnamon and moisten with 4 tablespoons milk. Roll as thin as possible. Cut into rounds and bake.

Cranberry Jelly.

Three cups cranberries, 2 cups sugar, 1 cup boiling water. Boil rapidly 20 minutes. Mash and strain into tumblers. Apply paraffine in usual way and the jelly is ready for use at any time.

FINDING OF THE "MISERERE."

To the many who find Verdi's "Il Trovatore" their favorite opera, and to whom the plaintive notes of the "Miserere" often recur linked with saddest and sweetest memories, the following anecdote of Verdi, as recalled by The Youth's Companion, will be of unusual interest:

On one occasion, when Verdi was engaged on his well-known opera, "Il Trovatore," he stood short at the passage of the "Miserere," being at a loss to combine notes of sufficient sadness and pathos to express the grief of the prisoner, Maurice.

Sitting at his piano in the deep stillness of the winter night, his imagination wandered back to the stormy days of his youth, endeavoring to extract from the past a plaint, a groan, like those which escaped from his breast when he saw himself forsaken by the world. All in vain!

One day, at Milan, he was unexpectedly called to the bedside of a dying friend, one of the few who had remained faithful to him in adversity and prosperity. Verdi, at the sight of his dying friend, felt a lump rise in his throat; he wanted to weep, but so intense was his grief that not a tear flowed to the relief of his anguish.

In an adjoining room stood a piano, Verdi, under one of those sudden impulses to which men of genius are sometimes subject, sat down at the instrument, and there and then improvised the sublime "Miserere" of the "Trovatore." The musician had given utterance to his grief.

EXPERTS.

Little Nelly told little Anita what she termed a "little fib."

Anita—A fib is the same as a story, and a story is the same as a lie.

Nelly—No, it's not.

Anita—Yes, it is, because my father said so, and my father is a professor at the university.

Nelly—I don't care if he is. My father is a real estate man, and he knows more about lying than your father.
